Question	Answer
Will attendance for the day of exams be automatically excused or does that depend on the teacher?	Students are expected to attend synchronous sessions unless there is an exam conflict. Students should be letting their teachers know when they will not be present.
Where can I find the AP Exam Demo?	https://apcoronavirusupdates.collegeboard.org/students/taking-ap-exams/exam-day-experience

Exam Materials
Can you have the exam open on two devices at once?	No, you can only have the exam open on one device. Please be sure to practice the AP Exam Demo so that you know which way you prefer to submit your exams.
Can class notes we use on the exam be either printed or online?	Yes. You can use both. Please make sure that they are not shared with anyone. You can review the Tips for Success on Open Book/Open Note Exams .
Submission Questions
Is it possible to hand write the response and have the exam open on a laptop?	Yes. But the exam can only be opened on one device. You would then need to email the responses to yourself if you are using a computer or take a picture of the exam if you are using a phone. Please review the AP Exam Demo for practice.
When submitting a picture of a response, do we have to name the picture a certain way?	No, you do not. You can simply upload the picture. Make sure that if you are using multiple documents that you label them and upload them in the correct order. Please review College Board's Submission Guidelines for step by step directions.
Can you cut into the 5-minute upload time to continue working?	Technically, yes. However, you are highly encouraged not to. Students should be ready to submit within that 5 minutes so that there are no issues with submission.
Make Up Exams
Is there a way to take the June test if you don't feel comfortable with your knowledge and would like more study time?	You can simply choose to take the exam in June. However, this is NOT encouraged. If there are issues with your June date, you will not have another chance to take the exam this year. There are absolutely no makeup requests if you leave your exam for June.
